While agroeing with the emperor that religion needs forms, Dr. Harnack differs from his views in regard to the revelation of the divinity of Christ, and contends that Protestantism recognizes the revelation in hings is no longer admitted. The thinking mind cannot possibly content itself with two kinds of revelation running parallel with each other, as the emperor assumes. Religious conceptions of history must be uniform and any judgment confusing Christ with other masters must be rejected. Yet the correctness of the formula, divinity of Christ," the doctor maintains, must be questioned. Christ never used it, nor did the primitive church without qualifications, speaking always of divinity and humanity. Diving humanity is therefore the preferable formula. Christ never concealed that he was Lord and Savior, but he never revealed the secret of his relation to his Father. Even the formula, divine humanity in Christ, is therefore open to objection, as it encroaches upon a secret which cannot be penetrated.

Dr. Harnack predicts that the time is coming when all Protestant denomina-road travel. Some of the engines may be equipped with the appliance to give it a trial."

What the Appliance Is.

The appliance consists of a brass double dial and at a hasty glance looks like a large steam gauge. One dial is smaller than the other, and is slightly raised above the face of the main dial. The elevated dial is divided into miles up to 100. The marks on the main dial are divided into fractions of miles. Around the edge of the small dial at regular intervals is a series of triggers.

When the engineer gets an order to slow up, enter a switch or take any other precaution at a certain point on the road, he raises one of the triggers is pushed out of place by a revolving hand on the dial. The engineer is warned by a whistle which the trigger releases. If he fails to obey the warning before the train has proceeded another tenth of a mile, a plungar in the center of the dial is released and automatically sets the air brakes.

The hand on the dial is much like that on the dial of a steam gauge. It moves, however, only when the engineer moves. It is operated by one of the road the productions or what the prophelo outcome will be upday to specific the production of the road is now given to Superintendent Mertsheimer of the Denver. Actions of the road is now given to Superintendent Mertsheimer of the Denver and the road is now given to Superintendent Mertsheimer of the Denver and the road. This change has been contemplated for a long time and is in line with a retrenchment affecting those positions which can be filled by the officers of the Rio Grande wester releases. A contrivance over the dial blows a whistle if the gauge is out of order. It whistles when the train stops and whistles when it starts.
